

LET'S EVEN IT UP!

Oxfam's inequality campaign

We've just launched a brand new campaign to highlight the growing levels of inequality across the world.

The campaign called EVEN IT UP aims to tackle the root causes of inequality over the next 5 years.

Why? Because the gap between rich and poor is spiralling out of control. Just 85 individuals have the same wealth as half the people on our planet. Such extreme economic inequality is hurting us all, and standing in the way of ending global poverty.

Spread the word

We have thousands of staff and volunteers across the planet and we need you to share our message across social media networks globally. Every person who joins this movement plays a key role in telling governments, companies and people around the world that enough is enough. We can't have too many supporters, so please visit our social media pages and post, share and tweet the content now.

Find out more by clicking below:

STAFF VIDEOS
Hear directly from colleagues

Even it up -
Oxfam website

YouTube

Active People

Simon Reeves: Forum
Topic (10/11/2014)

Nhamburo Ziyenge: File
(08/11/2014)

Nhamburo Ziyenge:
Page (08/11/2014)

Nhamburo Ziyenge:
Page (08/11/2014)

Matt Jerwood:
Comment (07/11/2014)